Coquille Tribal Community Fund announces 2011 grant recipients

45 grants provide $265,750 for community projects

North Bend, Ore. – The Coquille Tribal Community Fund will provide $265,750 in grants this year to support projects at 45 area non-profit organizations and public agencies.

Programs designed to help individuals and families provide for basic needs remained the primary focus for the Fund's Board of Trustees at their annual meeting.

“Our trustees were united in their commitment to support basic services and help individuals and families find their way through our region's ongoing economic issues,” said Julia Willis, Fund administrator. “Food, housing and health care again received their highest priority when making funding decisions.”

Trustees continued to emphasize feeding the hungry by granting $75,305 to 11 organizations operating food pantries or offering food services. Board members provided $54,822 for health and safety programs with an additional $12,000 to five agencies providing animal care. Grants totaling more than $20,000 were provided for housing programs. The Fund also continued its support for the Coos County Historical Society's Waterfront Museum with a grant for $63,000.

The Coquille Indian Tribe established the community fund in 2001 as a way to share profits from The Mill Casino with community organizations. Since its inception, the fund has distributed close to $3.8 million to support charitable efforts throughout the region.

The Coquille Tribal Community Fund supports non-profit and governmental organizations with projects in the areas of education, health, public safety, problem gaming, environmental issues, arts and culture and historic preservation. Funds, derived from a percentage of revenues from The Mill Casino, are managed and distributed by a board of trustees comprised of community leaders, a gubernatorial appointee and representatives of the Coquille Indian Tribe and the Coquille Economic Development Corporation.

The fund reflects the commitment of the Coquille Indian Tribe to take a proactive, positive role in the well-being of the community. The Tribe is among the largest employers in Coos County, and, through the Coquille Economic Development Corporation, manages The Mill Casino • Hotel & RV Park along with business ventures in assisted living, organic cranberry farming and high-speed telecommunications.

For organizations wishing to be considered for the next round of funding, the deadline for applications is Aug. 31. For more information, visit the Fund Web site at www.coquilletribalfund.org.
